Body Of Husband And Father, Victim Of Crime, Unfound

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 17—(AP)—The bizarre details of a backwoods slaying, kept secret 19 years, were coming to light, the authorities said today, with a mother and her son each accusing each other of killing the son's father, John No-

Joseph Novak, about 36, was held for Marinette, Wis., authorities who said a first degree murder warrant naming him would be issued today. He was found on a street here late last night.

Mrs. Bronislawa Novak, his 64-year-old mother, was in custody at Mt. Clemens, Mich. She faces Another son, Henry, with whom she lived at Van Dyke, Mich., was responsible for her detention.

He informed Michigan authorities that his mother recently told him for the first time the real fate of his father. Marinette authorities were notified and the

Joseph was arrested here last March on a minor charge. Acting Detective Captain Adolph Kraemer said Joseph accused his mother of killing his father 19 years ago, 65 miles northwest of Marinette. Kraemer quoted him as saying he found his father lying on a bench in a shed, a bloody hammer lying nearby. Joseph and his mother Kraemer's report, dragged it to a brush pile in a wooded section of the farm and burned it. No substantiating evidence was found, and he was released last Sept. 11.

Confronted Mother

A Van Dyke truck driver however, recently learned of Joseph's detention and told Henry, who had no idea how deep his father's involvement had gone.

Assistant Prosecutor Fitzgerald at Mt. Clemens said the woman asserted that Joseph, then 17, killed his father with a hatchet during a quarrel. Joseph told her he buried the body "behind the house," she said.

Henry said she told him that the body was dismembered and burned

He said authorities hoped to clear up the case, although the evidence consisted only of the testimony of the mother and the

DIXON C. C. AND NRA UNITED IN
CORN BOOSTINGAsk Government To Declare Embargo On Importing Molasses

An appeal to President Franklin D. Roosevelt and other government officials, including Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, George N. Peek of the administration of agriculture, General Hugh S. Johnson of the N. R. A. and congressmen and senators, has been made jointly by Postmaster John E. Meyer, chairman of the local NRA program and the Dixon Chamber of Commerce which concerns an important issue. The action has been taken with a view of stimulating the corn market, which is highly important in this locality, and urges an embargo of the importation of black strap molasses into the United States. The resolution as adopted is as follows:

Whereas, this trade territory desires to cooperate enthusiastically with the whole NRA program and the immediate requests expressed in the "Buy Now" campaign, and

Whereas, the principal buying power of this trade territory must come from the price which the farmer receives for his crops and

Whereas the price of corn in this community at the country elevator has decreased from fifty cents per bushel in July to approximately twenty-two cents per bushel at present, and

Whereas the market for corn is almost exclusively an American market, and

Whereas the importation of blackstrap molasses for use in the industrial alcohol industry displaces at least seventy-five million bushels of corn in the American market, and

Whereas, the industrial alcohol industry formerly used corn exclusively for the manufacture of its products, and

Whereas, Congress, as a part of the National Emergency Relief Legislation delegated to the U. S. authority to place an embargo upon importation which would obstruct national recovery, and

Whereas, the importation of blackstrap molasses is not only retarding the National Recovery program but is also unfair to the American producers of corn and cane and beet sugar, in that it places them in competition with the peon labor of the tropics.

Now, therefore, be it resolved that we, the Dixon NRA Committee and Dixon Chamber of Commerce respectfully request that you immediately use the power delegated to you to place an embargo against the importation of black strap molasses, into the United States for the reason that such action would create an immediate American market for seventy-five million bushels of corn which market would have an immediate effect upon the price which the farmer could receive for his corn and give to him an immediate buying power to enable him to cooperate with you in the National Recovery program.

Mountain Goats Smart

The mountain goat is the surest-footed and the most intelligent in meeting certain emergencies that arise on narrow trails. When two goats meet on an extremely narrow ridge with a precipice on each side, coolness and intelligence are indispensable. They cannot pass, nor retreat, as there is no room in which to turn about. Under these circumstances, the goats stand and look at each other thoughtfully for some time and mentally discuss matters. Then one of them kneels and lies down very carefully, and the other deliberately walks over him. They never get rattled and lose their heads. You will always find that any species of animal is about as clever as any other in the particular line of business which concerns its existence.

He restoreth my soul: He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness, for His name's sake. Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for Thou art with me; Thy rod and Thy staff they comfort me: Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies: Thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over. Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life; and I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever.

Meeting of Truth Seekers Classes

On Thursday evening, Oct. 12th, the Truth Seekers classes, Sec. 12th, 1 and 2 of Bethel U. E. church, met at the home of Miss Lona Beckingham, with Mrs. Lee Drew and Mrs. Richard Weyant assisting hostesses.

The meeting opened with the singing of hymns, "He Hideth My Soul," and "This So Sweet to Trust in Jesus." Prayer was offered by four members in behalf of the Bethel U. E. revival meetings. Devotions were in charge of Miss Lona Beckingham, followed by another hymn.

Mrs. Lee Drew, the president, then opened the business meeting with a short season of prayer. Roll call was responded to by thirty-four members answering with Bible verses. Committee reports were given. Plans were made to pack a Christmas box for an orphanage. After the business session, a short program was enjoyed. A leaflet entitled "Mistah Noah and De Ark" was read by Mrs. Carl Hess and caused much laughter. A most interesting talk on the second coming of Christ, was given by Mrs. H. L. Lambert. Bible questions and answers were given by Mrs. Elmer Chapman. Mrs. William Charvat and Mrs. Everett Donaho, and were very helpful.

Miss Vivian Fike Known Here, Wed

Miss Vivian Fike and Donald Peugh, both of Milledgeville, were married Saturday evening, at the First Presbyterian church of Milledgeville. The church was lighted with ivory and yellow candles. Yellow and white pompons and marigolds formed the decorations. The center aisle was lined with tall candelabra and small bouquets tied with white satin ribbon were fastened at the pew ends.
Proceeding the ceremony Miss Kathryn Horning sang "Thou Art Like Unto a Flower," and "Let Me Press My Cheek to Thine." Mrs. Harry Haugh of Milledgeville played Handel's "Largo," as the bride party entered the church.
Mrs. Percy Norwood of Evanston, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore blue velvet with matching feather toque. Miss Ruth Peugh of Rockford, the groom's sister, was maid of honor. Her costume was of yellow silk crepe and tulle with black velvet hat. William Hacker of Whitewater, Wis., was best man. Nancy Norwood, flower girl, wore a green taffeta frock and carried rose petals in a pastel basket.
The bride wore a gown of white embroidered silk organza with tulle veil caught under a bandeau of orange blossoms. She carried white Killarney roses and sweet peas.
After the ceremony, which was read by the bride's brother-in-law, Dr. Percy Varney Norwood, of Evanston, a reception for thirty guests was held at the home of the bride's parents.
The bride attended Frances Shimer College at Mt. Carroll and is a talented singer. She and her husband will reside in Milledgeville.

"Loving Relatives," Are Worst Enemies

Cleveland, O., Oct. 17.—(AP)—They may not realize it, but loving aunts, uncles and cousins, and especially grandmothers, are a baby's worst enemies.
At any rate this is the opinion of Dr. Alan Brown, physician-in-chief of the Hospital for Sick Children at Toronto, and professor of pediatrics at the University of Toronto.
"Loving relatives," Dr. Brown told the International Medical Assembly last night, "are a baby's worst enemies. They do not realize that respiratory infections—head colds and pneumonia—do not fly in at the window but are conveyed from person to person by direct contact with the breath."
"These loving relatives come in and hang all over the baby. One of them has a cold or something and passes it on the poor defenseless infant."
"Then if the infant survives all that, the grandmothers and the rest of the relatives spoil the child and leave him to his parents, who have all the work of trying to get rid of their child's bad habits. These loving relatives don't care what happens because they don't have the responsibility."

October Meeting of Palmyra Farm Club

The October meeting of the Palmyra Farm Bureau Community club was held at Sugar Grove church Thursday evening, Oct. 12th with 107 in attendance.

The chairman called the meeting to order and the secretary's report was read and approved.
Several musical selections were given by the Frederick Brothers, accompanied at the piano by their mother, Mrs. Harry Fredericks and two instrumental solos were then given by Helen Fredericks. They were much enjoyed by all.
Farm Advisor C. E. Yale gave us a very interesting talk, urging every farmer to join the Farm Bureau and back his own organization.
It was voted to have a scramble supper at the next meeting. Roll was called and the meeting adjourned. All going to the basement for refreshments of pumpkin pie, doughnuts and coffee.

Miss Read Honors Miss A. Hubbell

Last evening Miss Olive Read was hostess at her home at a very charming bridge party for her friend, Miss Alethea Hubbell who is soon to become the bride of Samuel Blumling. There were guests for two tables of bridge. Miss Jean Wilson winning the favor for high honors and Mrs. Thos. Erwin winning the consolation favor. After bridge delightful refreshments were enjoyed. Autumn flowers and foliage were the lovely decorations.
A happy feature of the evening was the miscellaneous shower for Miss Hubbell and she received many nice gifts with best wishes from her friends.
An out of town guest at the party was Miss Edith Lewis of Amboy, a cousin of Miss Hubbell who is her guest this week.

Bridge Tea For Miss Marie LeSage

Miss Marie LeSage who is to become the bride of Frank Buckley this month, was the guest of honor at a most delightful bridge tea Saturday with Miss Louise Murphy as hostess.
Miss Ingaletta Robertson was awarded first honors at bridge and Mrs. L. L. Jacobson was awarded the consolation favor. A charmingly appointed tea was served. Cut flowers and autumn foliage formed appropriate decorations.

61st Anniversary for T. J. Millers

Sunday, Oct. 15th, was the sixty-first wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Miller of 203 Everett street, and it was quietly and happily celebrated by the members of the family, and their families, at the parental home, a home wherein hospitality finds its true meaning and significance. Mr. and Mrs. Miller have been residents of Dixon for many years. They and their family are valued members of the First Baptist church of Dixon. They are highly esteemed by scores of friends. Cards of greeting gifts and flowers with the kinfolk present, made the day a happy one for Mr. and Mrs. Miller.

The South Dixon Unit of the Home Bureau met at the home of Mrs. Peter Hoyle, Thursday afternoon, Oct. 12, with a good attendance of members. After the usual business meeting the lesson was given by Mrs. Harold McGeary, local leader, on "First Aid in the Home," which was on fainting, apoplexy, burns and scalds, treatment for shock, and how to treat wounds. The lesson was of much value to the members.
At the close of the lesson the meeting adjourned to meet in November with Mrs. McGeary.

Officers for Aux. To Be Installed

The American Legion Auxiliary met in Legion hall last Thursday afternoon. The welfare chairman gave a report in which she told of assisting needy families with clothing. Plans were made to hold a food sale in the Beier building on First street on Saturday, Oct. 28. The next meeting will be held in Legion hall Wednesday, Oct. 25, at which time Mrs. Blanchard, district committee woman will be installing officer for the newly elected officers.

Helpful Hints For Housewives

Don't Shout, Talk Softly
For Harmony in Home
The habit of shouting and talking in the home in harsh high-pitched voices is often due to nothing but thoughtfulness. Voices are raised to carry from one room to another or to call out into the yard. One tries to talk above the whine of the vacuum cleaner, the rattle of dishes or the sound of running water. Cultivate the habit of shutting off such noises before you talk to the children.

Box of Playthings For Visiting Children

Even if you have no children, a box of things to amuse your friends' boys and girls when they come is a good idea. The playthings may include various small articles such as beads, spoons, magazines and party favors. A few small inexpensive toys will fill out the collection nicely. Keep the box in an out-of-the-way place and teach the children to put everything back in order.

THERE'S ALWAYS SOMETHING.

Secretary Ickes of the department of the interior, in charge of public works projects, says work on these projects is being delayed by demands for wages that are too high.

General Johnson says, "Runaway prices are a poison to kill trade."

In the face of these conditions the department of agriculture is plowing up cotton, buying off wheat growers, and purchasing at premium prices millions of little pigs in order to bring agriculture up to the parity with prices of other activities as it existed in 1909-14.

There's always something.

Secretary Ickes sent his ideas floating over to the convention of the American Federation of Labor in Washington, where measures were pending critical of his administration because of delays. He intimated that if the federation were disposed to criticize, he would tell the world where the trouble lies.

General Johnson's difficulty in holding back runaway prices has been coincident with organization of NRA to boost prices. To raise prices to the producer and not to the consumer is a problem not yet worked out.

Meanwhile the industrial end, which will prosper by natural processes as soon as agriculture is given normal purchasing exchange power, has been proceeding upward so fast that agriculture's purchasing position is getting worse instead of better.

Present plans have too much regard for force and not enough for fundamentals. As soon as agriculture is given its proper relations, it will keep industry busy, perhaps working nights. There is practically no end to the needs of agriculture, to say nothing of its wants.

First of the fundamentals to be recognized is further deflation of railways, steel and building industries. When railways are deflated, that will open the way for further deflation of steel and building.

Until those things are brought about, we shall be running around in circles. The department of agriculture will be trying to bring about a parity as of 1909-14 and the NRA will be working against it.

It is peculiar how many things we can think of doing in order to avoid the one thing necessary to rid the country of the few maladjustments that are so seriously affecting the whole.

RELIEF MUST COME, INFLATION OR NO.

There is precious little sense in worrying about the demand for inflation unless we also are willing to worry about the things that caused the demand.

That we are going to have something like a final, definite showdown in inflation this winter is becoming obvious. The pressure for inflation has been put on the White House in the last month or so is only the first breath of a gale that will break loose when Congress convenes.

And to read some of the indignant outcries being raised these days is to get the impression that demanding inflation is a crime against nature. We are reminded over and over again of the doleful things that happened to Russia and Germany when they sent their paper up in the windstorm.

Stick a pin through your newspaper at random and you are likely to impale an interview with some economist or other full of dark prophecies and dire forebodings.

All this pessimism may be entirely justified. That, at the moment, is hardly the point. The important thing is to realize that the clamor for inflation does not arise from sheer human perversity and wrongheadedness, but that it proceeds from the contemplation of wrongs which a great many people have decided they are not going to endure any longer.

If you borrow a dollar which is worth one bushel of wheat and find, when you come to pay it back, that it is worth three bushels, you have been gypped, and no fine talk about the sanctity of sound money is going to make you feel any better about it.

It is precisely that which has happened to millions of Americans in the last few years. Debt has turned into a self-increasing snowball, and it has become a load which is just about to heavy to be carried any farther.

Paying for a dead horse is never much fun; when the corpse goes on rising in value before you can get all your payments in, you hardly can be blamed if you decide that the rules of the game ought to be changed a little.

Inflation may be the height of folly. But an even loftier peak would be to fight against inflation without offering without any remedy for the wrongs which have made inflation look desirable.

If we are going to have inflation we must have something that will whittle our debts down to the size they were when we contracted them.

And it must be something that will work.

What we need to protect these modern-day youths is a youths' apostolate, in current times when temptations are being thrown about them on all sides.—Bishop Samuel A. Stritch of Milwaukee.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The midget Indians hid behind some trees. "I guess we will have to find a way to let them know we are friends," said Scouty with a grin.

"There is no doubt that dad was right. He said we'd fill them all with fright. It was funny how they jumped and ran when we raised such a din."

Then Coppy said, "Well I don't see poor Duncy. Now, where can he be? I guess that we were very wrong in thinking he was at this place."

"If that is true, why stay around? Let's search until our pal is found. So far, it looks as if we've come upon a wild goose chase."

"Well, lads, I still think I am right. It is true your friend is not in sight, but I am sure he is around some place. Why don't you Timmy call?"

"If he just knows that you are here, I am pretty sure that he will appear, and then you won't have anything to worry 'bout at all."

"That is fine, but I have a better plan," said Goldy. Then she quickly ran into the woods loudly shouting, "Hey, you Indians, please join us."

"There was no need for you to run. We only came to have some fun. We really are not Indians and we will not start a fuss."

The little Indians figured she was just as honest as could be, so out they came to join the Timmys. Everyone was glad.

Then Scouty said, "Is wee Duncy here?" An Indian answered, "Yes, right near! Why, he's a real good friend of ours, and quite a fine young lad."

"The Indian then let out a yell. A pony soon ran up, bell-ringing. Behind it sat wee Duncy, on a travois. What a sight!

"Hello, there, Timmys," wee Duncy cried. "I am glad you came. Who wants a ride? I've had fun with the Indians, and they have treated me just right."

(The Timmys and Indians have a camp fire in the next story.)

Everyday Religion

HIND PART BEFORE
By Dr. Joseph Fort Newton

On the other side of the world men think in other ways. Of course their ideas seem sensible to them, as ours do to us. But they are different, if not exactly opposite—hind part before.

Most of our errors arise from thinking that we are always right because we are ourselves, and other people wrong because they are not us. It is absurd, to be sure, but that does not keep us from hanging on to our ideas as if we were the author of all truth.

For example, in Japan everything is topsy-turvy to us. Books begin at the back and end at the front. And the foot-notes are put at the top of the page. At dinner the dessert comes first, and that was my idea, too, as a boy. We admire big things; they love little things—a tiny garden, an exquisite thumb-nail sketch, delicate dainties.

In the same way, on leaving an inn you do not tip the waiter, but the owner. They use tools differently, too. A carpenter saws and planes toward himself, not away. A police man does not lift his hat, he takes off his shoes. Men are served first—they are first!

Also, the best rooms of a house are at the back. The garden, too, is behind the house, not in front. In building a house the roof is made first. It is blessed, then taken apart, the pieces numbered, and kept until the house is finished. In sewing, a woman does not thread her needle; she needles her thread. And, instead of running the needle through the cloth, she holds it still and runs the cloth upon it. So on endlessly, as if the world were upside down and awry.

All of which is odd to us because we are not used to it. Our ways are simply not their ways, and this holds true all through—even to basic ways of thinking. Our idealism is unreal to them. It is a fancy, a faction, having no meaning at all. They are realists.

Kipling was right. East is East and West is West, and never the twain shall meet. We must agree, to disagree, and not be disagreeable, if we are to live together in peace and good will.

Conversationalists we could do without, the ones who ask you if you have read a certain book, when all the time they are simply telling you that they have.

A fellow I feel sorry for; the guy who can't "gush" when he receives a gift.

Has the youth of the local Eastern Star officers ever struck you as being unique?

Contributed:
"I was sick and ye visited me"—this was one of the reasons for admission to Heaven. But I wonder—there are visitors and visitors. You have experienced the type who reads the patient with gory details of his own recent operation, or tells how his cousin So and So died of a trouble that began just like yours. Then there is the breezily cheerful kind of visitor who refuses to admit you really are sick and tells you you'll be up tomorrow, when you just know you have one foot in the grave, or at least you want your illness to be taken seriously. Another is the long-faced pious visitor to whom everything is "the will of the Lord"—when you are well aware that if you had heeded certain of nature's warnings you would not be where you are. And then—but you can fill them out from your own experiences.

Anyhow, the whole idea began before the germ theory of disease was discovered. I wonder, after all, if visiting—or shall we say visitation—of the sick is a virtue that should be cultivated either from the viewpoint of the visitor or the visitee.

Your visit to this Pillar is welcome. I hope you'll consider that a virtue worth cultivating.

How come we haven't seen any Balbo beards? Well, maybe we're a little too hasty. These modern softies aren't to be hurried.

Daily Health Talk

PREVENTING ARTHRITIS

Except for the arthritis known to be caused by germs, such as gonorrhea or epidemic meningitis, we do not as yet know enough about its various causes to say much about its prevention. However, much can be done by the individual to minimize his chances of developing arthritis or minimize the seriousness of the disease if one has it.

There are two principal factors in arthritis one of which might be called the seed and the other the soil. By the seed we have in mind the causative agents, whatever these might be, and by soil we mean the condition and the state of resistance of the body.

Preventive treatment of arthritis is directed at the soil. It has been established that those conditions which undermine general health favor the development and the aggravation of arthritis. Among such conditions we must include unsanitary surroundings, over fatigue, malnutrition, other chronic diseases, metabolic and glandular disturbances.

Poorly ventilated workrooms, dampness, excesses of temperatures, long hours of work, and inadequate rest periods contribute to the arthritis problem.

Of course, at the present time the shop factory and work place environment is considered a social and economic matter rather than a medical one, but medicine, like Mrs. Grundy, sticks its nose in not

END OF GERMAN PRESIDENCY MAY COME FROM POLL

Indications Are Hindenburg May Resign After Election

Berlin, Oct. 17.—(AP)—When the German nation marches to the polls November 12 to give Chancellor Adolf Hitler unanimous endorsement, it may unwittingly put an end to the German presidency. There are indications that President von Hindenburg, after the nation has overwhelmingly endorsed Hitler and his policies, may decide that the moment has come when he can lay aside the cares of office and retire to his home at Neudeck—thus making Hitler Germany's supreme ruler in name as well as in fact.

It is an open secret, though the press says nothing about it, that the question of Von Hindenburg's retirement has been under consideration both by himself and the Hitler cabinet.

Devotion to duty kept the 86-year-old chief of state from resigning so long as the Nazi regime was not completely entrenched. There is also little doubt that Hindenburg, from a sense of loyalty to his former sovereign, would be happiest if he could resign in favor of Wilhelm II.

Nazis Against Monarchy
In this connection, the recent visit of Crown Prince Frederick Wilhelm to Neudeck was much commented upon in political circles.

However, among Nazi storm troopers, who are the backbone of the Hitler regime, there is little enthusiasm for a monarchy.

In the coming Reichstag election campaign, called for when the German government withdrew from both the League of Nations its tongue, into every sphere. The only difference is that medicine is that medicine is justified in doing so.

As to the seed of arthritis, accumulated studies point to infection as being the outstanding cause of arthritis. It accounts for 70 per cent or more of the cases. Infection, particularly when of local and chronic, may act in devious ways. Thus, it may attack the joint directly or it may contribute to the arthritis by lowering systematic resistance, by disturbing metabolism and even by upsetting the endocrine balance in the glands of internal secretion.

Easing of Housewife's Burden Shown in Evolution of Kitchen

Spinning, Candle and Soap Making Familiar Tasks to Women in Colonial Times

By NEA Service

How the American housewife managed to get along in the days before the can opener and the delicatessen is illustrated in these interesting pictures showing the evolution of the American kitchen from Colonial to modern times.

The kitchen in the Colonial period (left) was more than a room in which to cook the family's meals. In here the family spun, knitted, dined, bathed, made soap and candles. From that great brick oven you see at the left of the fireplace came the luscious baked beans for which New England was famous.

That the kitchen labors of the housewife have grown increasingly simple is the moral pointed out in the picture at right, showing an up-to-date kitchen. It has a refrigerator, range, dishwasher, mixer, ventilator, radio, telephone and other electrically operated time and labor saving devices that make for convenience and efficiency. The rust proof metal and smooth enamel surfaces are easy to keep clean. All these modern kitchens, authentically reproduced in detail, are exhibits at the Century of Progress in Chicago.

George C. Slater of Chicago, representing the United Garment Workers of America Union.

"We are not asking for an increase in wages, but for recognition of the union," he said. The strike was voted unanimously last Friday.

Stolen Mail Found Intact In Indiana

Eftingham, Ill., Oct. 16.—(AP)—Several mail sacks, stolen from the baggage room of the Eftingham railway station last Tuesday night, have been recovered with the contents intact near Gary, Ind., officials of the Railway Express agency announced today.

Arthur Kross, a baggageman alone at the time of the robbery, was forced by three men to lie on the floor while the intruders selected the pouches from a large sack in the room.

After an investigation postal inspectors said the pouches contained nothing of special value and that the robbers apparently have been incorrectly informed that a valuable shipment was expected.

Doctor's Treatment Heals Illinoian's Stomach Disorders

After suffering with stomach trouble for about two years, being able to eat only cream of wheat and drink milk, and almost in despair, C. J. Waring, 111 N. Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill., reports he finally secured relief from a simple home treatment. He says that he tried all sorts of medicines and spent many dollars with doctors but secured only temporary relief. Since taking The Ediga Treatment he can now eat almost anything without pain and he wants every other sufferer to know about his experience. Mr. Waring advises all sufferers from stomach ulcers, gas pains, excess acid, belching, pains after eating, constipation, sour stomach, poor digestion, dyspepsia, gastritis, and other stomach disorders due to hyperacidity or faulty diet, to try Ediga at once. Now we offer the same treatment, which produced such splendid results for Mr. Waring to all stomach sufferers on 15 days' trial, with money back if not satisfied. Also testimonials, a sworn affidavit of genuineness and a free book explaining the cause and treatment of various stomach disorders, including stomach ulcers. If you suffer, ask for the $1.00 trial treatment today. If it fails to help you we'll give you your dollar back.

WALLACE SEES SURPLUS RELIEF PLAN A SUCCESS

Secretary Of Agriculture Visions Fight With Privation

Editor's Note.—Over-nourished granaries in the country, soup kitchens and breadlines in the cities.

It is a picture of contradictions that the new Federal Surplus Relief corporation hopes to ease. In the accompanying article written for The Associated Press, Henry A. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, outlines some of its objectives.

By HENRY A. WALLACE, Secretary of Agriculture (Copyright, 1933, The Associated Press)

Washington.—(AP)—Within the past week a new national policy has been announced. It proposes that we produce the necessities of life not merely for all who can buy them, but for all in this country who need them.

That is the significance of the Federal Surplus Relief corporation, recently organized, with Harry Hopkins, Federal emergency relief administrator, in charge.

It so happens that agriculture has been producing at that abundant rate plus a substantial surplus for many years. Industry has never found it possible to do so. Industry in time of depression has curtailed production and thrown workers onto the relief rolls. There are three and one-half million families there now. They comprise 13 per cent of the population.

Surplus For Unemployed

The new policy stipulates that the Federal government should buy surplus raw materials and give them to the unemployed. This will accomplish two purposes.

First, it will prevent starvation and privation in the cities this winter.

Second, it will prevent comparable privation in the country because it will enable farmers to stay on their farms and produce.

We can plan our agricultural production, therefore, for all of the 12 million people in the United States. If there is a reasonable prospect of selling something abroad, we can include that in our plans. The essential thing is that we must and will produce enough for our own people, with the proper margin for safety.

Farmers resent the idea of reducing production of the necessities of life so long as people in the cities are in need. I share that feeling. I wish it might be extended beyond such necessities as food to such other necessities as clothing and fuel and light and housing.

Huge Supplies Available

At any rate, the huge surplus of food stuffs is available. The government can transfer a sizable portion of it to the hungry.

By so doing we attack, even if we do not solve, the problems of over-production on the farm and under-consumption in the city.

The three and one half million families on the public relief rolls can consume two million pounds of butter a week in addition to the meager amount they are now getting. That might reduce the butter surplus to normal within eight months. It would also be possible for these families to consume a billion pounds of pork and lard a year, which would make a sizeable dent in our surplus of pork products.

So with wheat and milk, perhaps even fruits and vegetables.

That would not, of course, solve the surplus problem. The new policy merely offers a new means of attacking it. For even in such relatively prosperous years as 1929, 29 the farms of America produced far more wheat and pork and cotton than all the people of the nation could possibly use. That is still true.

Production Cuts Vital

The necessity for adjusting production downward in many of our farm commodities, therefore, remains with us. The task is to adjust downward until farm products sell at a fair exchange value and at the same time to produce enough for every man, woman and child in the United States. A margin of safety, to allow for drought, crop failure or other disaster, will be provided for.

The adjustments we have made thus far in wheat, in cotton and in hogs are first efforts in that direction. We have yet a long way to go. We can go ahead with more peace of mind now that we know the hungry will be fed.

CHARTER GRANT TO AMBOY LOAN ASSN. FROM U. S.

Lee One Of 25 Counties In State Ready To Make Loans

St. Louis, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Production credit associations through which farmers may obtain short term loans, have been organized in 25 Illinois counties. J. M. Houston, president of the Production Credit Corporation of St. Louis, announced today.

Similar organizations are being rushed in 13 other counties. When the work is completed loans may be obtained by farmers in the following counties:

Adams, Brown, Bureau, Calhoun, Carroll, Christian, Coles, DeKalb, DeWitt, Douglas, Edgar, Effingham, Fayette, Ford, Hancock, Henry, Iroquois, Jo Daviess, Kane, Lee, Livingston, Logan, McLean, Macoupin, Menard, Mercer, Montgomery, Moultrie, Ogle, Piatt, Pike, Rock Island, Sangamon, Schuyler, Shelby, Stephenson, Vermilion and Winnebago.

Charters have been granted loan associations at Champaign, Rock Island, Amboy, Quincy, Lincoln and Watska.

Loans are to be made for crop production, purchase of feeder animals, breeding stock and milk cows, and for the feeding, breeding and marketing of livestock. Loans will be made from three to twelve months at 6 per cent interest.

$8,500,000 IN LOANS READY

More than $8,500,000 in Federal Land Bank loans await the acceptance of 2,026 Illinois farmers was announced today in a statement just received by L. S. Griffith, Sec.-Treas. of the Lee County National Farm Loan Association, Amboy, Ill. Since May 1st, the Land Bank has approved of 2,783 Illinois loans amounting to approximately $11,400,000. Of these $7,757,000, totaling nearly $2,900,000, have been paid out to farmers, leaving $8,500,000 in approved loans awaiting disbursement.

"After a loan has been approved by the Land Bank," Wood Netherland, General Agent of the Farm Credit Administration, states, "the applicant has to send in the complete abstracts of title to the farm which he offers as security. In addition, he must sign the mortgage papers and return them to the Land Bank. Much of this money for approved loans is still in our hands because the farmers have not attended to those requirements. As soon as these conditions are fulfilled, this $8,500,000 will be sent to Illinois farmers to be used in refinancing their farm mortgages and other debts."

The Federal Land Bank of St. Louis has granted extensions of time in which to pay the principal on their loans to 1,745 borrowers in Illinois, according to Mr. Netherland. This is approximately 20 per cent of the Federal Land Bank borrowers in Illinois.

"These extensions," Agent Netherland stated, "are made according to the provisions of the Emergency Farm Mortgage Act, which permits the land bank borrower to omit the payments on the principal of his loan for one to five years if his loan is in good standing. During this period, the interest only, must be paid. The borrower must apply to the land bank for the extension."

PAYROLLS AHEAD OF FOOD PRICE BOOSTS IN ILL.

Illinois College Of Agriculture Tells Of Its Survey

Urbana, Ill., Oct. 17.—Although food prices are going up, retail prices of foods for 51 cities in the United States have risen less since March than either payrolls or farm prices, according to a comparison by Dr. R. W. Bartlett, of the department of agricultural economics, College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

In September the average price of 42 foods was 68 per cent of that in 1925-1927, seasonal variation being considered, he reported. This was an advance of 10 points, or 18.4 per cent since April, the month of lowest retail food prices. Since factory payrolls have advanced 29 points, the purchasing power of factory workers in terms of food has materially increased. The increase in real income for each worker has been much less than that for all workers because of the substantial increase in numbers of those employed.

The average retail price of bread has risen from 64 cents a pound in April to 77 cents a pound in September, or an increase of 20 per cent. In September the retail price of flour averaged 49 cents a pound, or 38 per cent higher than for April. Flour is only one of the component costs in a loaf of bread.

"With a rising price level, the retail prices of meats and livestock products, like farm prices for these commodities, rise less rapidly than prices of grains and other crops. Thus, seasonal variation being considered, the average September price of round steak in 51 cities in the United States was only 4 per cent higher than that in April, bacon 7 per cent higher, milk 6 per cent higher, butter 13 per cent higher, and eggs 14 per cent higher.

"In general the demand for meat and livestock products fluctuates more with changes in retail prices than that for foods such as potatoes or cereals. The increase in consumers' incomes has not yet permitted any great increase in retail prices of these foods.

"Retail prices of canned products such as corn, peas, and tomatoes are still relatively low. Prices for oranges also have been held at a low level. This indicates that, as yet, consumers are watching food expenditures very carefully. If prices for these foods were increased too much, many consumers would buy lower-priced substitutes or go without them altogether."

Washington, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Purchases of $15,000,000 worth of butter and beef today was the government's latest step in its program for feeding surplus foodstuffs to the needy.

At the rate of 2,000,000 or more pounds a week, government money will dig into a butter surplus estimated at 70,000,000 pounds. Simultaneously, it will buy an undetermined quantity of beef in the canner and cutter grades.

Readiness to make the purchases was announced by Harry L. Hopkins, Relief Administrator, and Secretary Wallace. There were indications that before long eggs will be added to the surplus-relief buying.

"Needy people on the relief rolls in many communities," Hopkins said, "have not been supplied with nearly sufficient quantities of meat and butter, while cattle, dairy and hog growers are suffering from poor markets."

The Farm Administration already has purchased 100,000,000 pounds of pork.

VISIBLE GRAIN SUPPLY

New York, Oct. 16.—(AP)—The visible supply of American grain shows the following changes in bushels: wheat increased 324,000; corn increased 1,393,000; oats decreased 208,000; rye increased 145,000; barley increased 250,000.

I know of one section in Iowa, including about two counties, where they raised this year two hundred and twenty-five thousand (225,000) head of turkeys. Eight years ago they had to buy turkeys in Missouri for their local holiday trade.

This method of producing turkeys is in evidence all over the map and as a result there is an increased number of them.

Market Only Mature Turkeys

It will require judgment in marketing to realize anything out of turkeys this fall. In particular, I hope you can avoid "dumping" them on the market which is always disastrous.

In the northwest, where large quantities of turkeys are raised, crops were almost an entire failure. The farmers have no feed and no money to buy it. They are going to be forced to sell their turkeys whether they are ready for market or not.

Fortunately, with fine crops throughout the Middle West, you will not have to do this.

My recommendation is to go over your birds carefully and market only those that are mature for Thanksgiving. (Don't do as some farmers do—sell them all at one time, mature and immature.)

And market them early. Keep in mind that turkeys should be on the wholesale market not later than the Friday or Saturday before Thanksgiving. That means they should be sold in the country at least two weeks before Thanksgiving.

Sell Them Early

If all turkeys intended for the holiday trade were on the market the week before, a lot of grief could be avoided, for this reason:

Plans for the Thanksgiving dinner are made at least a week ahead of time. That's when the housewife makes up her mind to have turkey—or something else.

It often happens that up to that time receipts have been light and the price of turkeys is high in the markets. So she decides to use ham—or roast beef. Then on the Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday before Thanksgiving the turkeys begin to come in. The market is swamped. The price goes down, but it's too late to do any good. Other plans have already been made.

Then there is a calamity. These turkeys which arrived too late to be sold are put into storage and then they help depress the Christmas market.

So I repeat: Examine your birds carefully, sell only those that are mature, and SELL THEM EARLY. Sincerely yours,

W. F. Prieb

MOVEMENT FOR NEW REVENUES GAINS SUPPORT

Referendum To Change State Constitution Before Assembly

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 17.—(AP)—Growing momentum throughout Illinois is a movement for a amendment to the Illinois Constitution which would broaden the types of taxes that could be levied and also limit to one per cent the assessments on property.

The proposal is to come before the General Assembly at the second special session on liquor control. If adopted, a 1934 referendum will be held on the suggested changes in the revenue article of the state Constitution.

There is both urban and rural dissatisfaction with the present taxation provisions, growing out of high levies on real estate, taxation on intangibles and the limitations under which graduated rates are forbidden and taxes limited to property, privileges and occupations.

Want Million Signers

Downstate, the Illinois Agricultural Association is circulating petitions requesting that the Constitution be amended so that the real estate tax rate can be lowered. The Farm Bureau organization plans to present a million signatures to Governor Horner.

In Chicago, the movement started during the regular session when Rep. Edwin B. Bederman, a Republican, introduced a resolution proposing the amendment. It passed both houses late in the session, but was killed by changes made in the Senate to which the House would not agree.

A commission of fifteen, representing the legislature and the public, has been appointed to consider revenue changes.

I. A. A. Proposals

The Agricultural Association's proposals are:

That the present limitations which "prevent" an equitable distribution of the tax burden be removed by making it possible for the legislature to adopt a wider range of revenue laws.

That "total general property taxes shall not exceed 51 on the $100 net cash value unless the excess is approved by a referendum vote."

That no local indebtedness be incurred by a taxing district without a referendum vote.

That the legislature "may by general law enacted by two-thirds vote distribute state revenues among local taxing districts."

The Bederman resolution was virtually similar, with the added provision that an exemption of $1,000 be given homesteads when occupied by the owner as a residence.

Sponsors of the proposed change hope that sufficient support can be obtained to amend. Attempts along other lines failed in 1930 and 1930.

The Field Run Contest will again be an interesting part of the local Nov. 16 and 17. In order that all contestants may be taken care of, those entering the contest should notify the Agricultural Department of the high school so that their samples may be picked and stored at an early date. This contest is open to anyone in the Rochelle territory and each entrant is permitted to enter as many samples as he has varieties of corn on his farm. The sample is taken from any ten consecutive hills and the award is based upon the yield and the fitness of that corn to meet market grades. The number of entries during the past three years has shown a steady increase. This interest in field run corn on the part of the contestants quite likely indicates the value of this method of checking the fitness of various strains of corn.

Punts, Passes And Kicks From Football Fields

By HERBERT W. BARKER

Associated Press Sports Writer

New York, Oct. 17—(AP)—If you play hunches, put your money on Carnegie Tech to whip Notre Dame at Pittsburgh this week.

The Ramblers couldn't beat Howard Harpster when he was playing a great quarterback for the Tartans in 1926-1928. The superstars might risk a gamble that the jinx will hold good now that Harpster is head coach at his alma mater.

Notre Dame played Carnegie Tech twice in the three years Harpster was varsity quarterback and took two sound beatings. Howard booted field goals from the 31 and 40-yard lines in 1926 when Carnegie won, 19-0, and scored a touchdown and kicked three extra points when the Tartans crushed the Ramblers, 27-7 in 1928. His excellent field generalship likewise was credited with playing a large part in both victories.

Of course it will take more than a hunch to beat Notre Dame Saturday even though the Ramblers have been disappointing in their first two starts against Kansas and Indiana. But Harpster, in his first year as head coach at Carnegie, has built a sturdy line and developed a sensational passing attack that not long ago routed Pop Warner's Temple Owls, 25-0.

TIGERS DEVELOPED

Fritz Crisler has done a remarkable job in restoring Princeton football to the point where the Tigers once more are genuinely feared. In little more than a year, Crisler has developed a team that some critics think is destined to ride rough-shod over all opposition. The material is there, without doubt, but it remains to be seen what Crisler's sophomore backfield flashes will do when the going gets tougher.

On the basis of what they accomplished in Princeton's opening routs of Amherst and Williams, Garrett Levan, Paul Pauk, Homer Spoffard, Pepper Constable and Sumner Rulon-Miller, all members of the great freshman outfit of 1932, look like football players any coach would be glad to have on his varsity.

Their first test comes Saturday when the Tigers run up against a veteran Columbia team led by the triple-threat quarterback, Captain Cliff Montgomery.

SATURDAY'S MAIN GAMES

For the first time this season the south fails to lead in the number of teams it contributes to intercollegiate warfare. Virginia, already trounced by Ohio State and beaten, after a great fight, by Columbia, tackles Navy and Auburn's Plainsmen face George Washington University, in the only important intercollegiate games in which southern teams figure.

On the other hand the east and midwest will be rivals in four major tussles. Carnegie Tech-Notre Dame, Pitt-Minnesota, Army-Illinois and Duquesne-Detroit.

NEWS CHURCHES

BETHEL CHURCH REVIVAL

The revival meetings at Bethel church, Galena avenue and Morgan street, continue with much interest. Rev. Frank Brandellner, the evangelist, preached to a full house last night. His subject was "Service and Separation." The evangelist told his hearers that God not only offers salvation to all as the free gift of God but that He also requires service. Taking for his text the story of the exodus from Egypt he quoted the text: "Let my people go that they may serve me." God's law of separation was clearly seen in the message given. Mr. Brandellner also conducted the singing and sang a solo entitled "Calvary Covers It All."

Tonight Pastor Lambert speaks and the subject will be "God's Highway to Glory."

Prayer meeting each night at 7 o'clock and the meetings begin at 7:30. Come early to get a good seat.

BRETHREN CHURCH

The neighbors' Week services started off with a fine interest and good attendance last night. Various phases of church work as it touches life in general will be considered during the week.

Last night Earl Buck of Franklin Grove spoke on the subject of men's work, and he presented many ways in which men could render a valuable service in helping society, business and industry.

Tonight Mrs. Frank McCune of Mt. Morris will speak on the subject of women's work. She will present the possibilities and opportunities of the women and we know the service will be appreciated by those who attend. The public is invited to attend. The service will begin each evening at 7:30.

Forgotten Sweetheart

By MARY RAYMOND

BEGIN HERE TODAY

FOR WESTON, son of a millionaire, comes to Bend in connection with a textile plant under construction for his father's company. Rob and Joan WATKINS fall in love with each other but BARBARA COURTNEY, society girl, schemes to take him away from Joan.

Through Barbara, Joan is invited to a house party at which Bob is also a guest. Misunderstandings pile up between Joan and Bob. Finally, sure that he no longer cares for her, she returns to Memphis with JIM WARFIELD, also at the party.

JEFF WARING, Joan's younger sister, is infatuated with JEROME FORRESTER, son of her employer. Joan learns from her mother that Pat has been going to parties where there is a good deal of drinking.

Pat is becoming uneasy over Jerry's interest in CLAIRE WILLIAMS, a married woman. Jerry calls for Pat one night and they drive to a road house.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XVII

JOAN was dressing to go to the "Night Cap Club," and wondering why she did not feel more elated. She had always wanted to go to the club and now, when Jim Warfield had invited her, there was a lump in her throat and a pain about her heart.

"You look very sweet," Mrs. Waring said, coming into the room and surveying Joan with approving eyes. She liked the simple, black gown that made her slim girl look even slimmer, admired the way the cloudy hair was drawn back simply, admired Joan's red lips and gray-blue eyes. A few minutes later Joan met Jim's approving glance and it was a bit of balm to her sore, young heart.

They reached the hotel and made their way to the mezzanine floor. Jim nodded carelessly to several acquaintances, greeting friends more warmly. He checked their wraps and guided Joan toward the Italian room.

She thought the scene was like fairyland. Colored lights under the little glass squares on the floor gleamed softly in contrast with the dresses of gorgeously gowned girls floating in the arms of men in informal evening attire. Waiters in bright coats moved swiftly about the tables. The room seemed to be swimming in color. It was dazzling, glamorous.

Jim, leaning across the table, said, "You don't know how sweet you look in that black dress, Joan. Like a little nun in a room full of nymphs and druids."

He added, "There comes Weston and the dazzling Barbara, spreading disaster in the guise of sweetness and light. What a fool Weston is!"

Joan looked toward the door. Barbara, just a little in front of her party, was standing in the doorway. There was always something dramatic, something about Barbara's entrances and exits.

Jim had begun drinking already, teasing Joan because she refused the highball he mixed for her. But it was only teasing. He did not urge her to accept the drink.

They had circled the room twice during the second dance when Bob cut in. With her heart beating furiously, Joan met Bob's eyes coolly, proudly.

"Well, how are you Joan?" She managed her brightest smile. "Splendid."

"So you are here with the incomparable Jim!"

"Yes," said Joan. "I am."

"Nothing for me." Then, as Pat met his dark gaze, "Well, a small highball."

Jerry ordered ice, ginger ale and lemons.

"I'm really not drinking much," Pat thought. "I'm just sipping."

Jerry had refilled her glass. Once during dinner he leaned forward to whisper, "Now, you're asked."

SHAUGHNESSY IS LIKE STAGG; HE TOO FEARS PURDUE

Maroons' Coach Sticks To Proverbial Fear Of Boilermakers

Chicago, Oct. 17.—(AP)—A new chapter is being written into football history at the University of Chicago, but echoes of the first linger on.

The annual fear of Purdue, traditional during Amos Stagg's reign as coach, did not leave the Midway campus with the departure of the "Grand Old Man." Although Chicago has beaten Purdue 27 times in 37 meetings, Stagg would never concede the Maroons a chance to beat the Boilermakers and the phrase "Stagg fears Purdue" became traditional.

Saturday the Maroons play the Hoosiers at Stagg Field and "Shaughnessy fears Purdue" is beginning to creep into the headlines. Despite the brilliant success of Coach Clark Shaughnessy's team so far this season and the disappointing performance of Purdue, the new Maroon coach expressed apprehension of the coming game.

Had No Real Test
He is of the opinion that the preliminary games against Cornell College and Washington University were not sufficient proof of the Maroons' ability.

Chicago alumni also were able to find many faults with the team. The tackling and blocking of the Maroons does not please Coach Shaughnessy. But regardless of what they think in the Midway, the fact remains that the Maroons stand a better chance of whipping Coach Noble Kizer's players Saturday than they have in the past five years.

Purdue undoubtedly will play a better brand of football Saturday than it did against Minnesota when a bunch of sophomores saved the day in the fourth period by tying the Gophers seven points. Chicago lacks the line power the Gophers have. Neither do the Maroons boast of a punter equal to Pug Lund who proved a big factor for Minnesota. Most experts are of the opinion that it will be a pretty even game.

Around The Big Ten
Don Veller is likely to be able to play for Indiana against Northwestern Saturday, but Wendell Walker is not. Ed Skoronski and George Dennis, sophomores, are on Purdue's first string line. Michigan was showed some new running plays to be used against Ohio State. The latter held a secret workout. Northwestern's regulars had a day off. A light workout was the program at Minnesota. Coach Zuppke made Harry Palmer and Arvo Anttila first string tackles at Illinois. A shake up took place at Wisconsin. Coach Ollie Solem of Iowa probably won't be able to use Frank Schammel against Wisconsin Saturday; the guard is in the hospital suffering from a leg infection.

Dixon Youth Is On
Beloit Grid Squad
(Telegraph Special Service)
Beloit, Wis., Oct. 17.—Howard Quick, graduate of the Dixon high school and former tackle on the purple and white football squad, has reported for freshman football at Beloit college where he is a student. Coach R. K. Jaggard has devised a new system of practice this year. There is no freshman

It's only where that you get heat

Dark spots here and bright spots there in the fireplace mean not much heat in one place and plenty in the other. It's inefficient combustion—wasteful.

You want even heat throughout your fireplace. It can be had. GREAT EAGLE has plenty of heating power—use the Furnace or Small Egg and you get the full benefit of it—even heat all through your furnace.

team as formerly, but a squad of players, including varsity men and newcomers. By practicing with the older and more experienced players, the freshmen will learn the tricks of the game and gain valuable experience. Coach Jaggard believes.

Football Ridden Of Reformers As Result Economics

New York, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Wm. J. Bingham, Harvard's Director of Athletics, feels that if the economic situation of the last few years has accomplished nothing else, it has succeeded in ridding football in particular and college athletics in general of the reformers.

Bingham told a gathering of the Harvard Club last night that he always had felt there had been a good deal of hypocrisy in connection with public agitation over sporting game receipts. "When times were good," he said, "there was widespread criticism. People wanted to know why gate receipts were necessary. Now the situation is completely altered. There no longer is any outcry at all. Instead the chief source of criticism comes from the failure of athletic budgets to balance."

"Tug" Qualified For Track Team

Chicago, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Kenneth L. "Tug" Wilson, Director of Athletics at Northwestern University, might have qualified for the track team when he leaped from his parked automobile a moment before it was struck by a runaway machine in which the sole occupant was a barking dog.

The accident occurred last night on a hill when the other car, owned by Garrett T. Seeley, Vice President of the Chicago Motor Coach Company, broke away from its parking place.

Both machines were damaged, but the dog was unhurt.

ORIGIN OF FLEA FLICKER PLAY IS TOLD BY ZUPPKE

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 17.—(AP)—The origin and naming of the famous "flea-flicker," the forward lateral pass play with which Illinois scored its first touchdown on Saturday, was revealed today by Bob Zuppke, the Illini coach, as he resumed preparations for the Army game at Cleveland Saturday.

"We first used this play at Muskegon, Mich. high school about 25 years ago, but never had a name for it until 1911 at Oak Park, Ill. high school. The play requires that the middleman, who receives the forward pass, snap the ball laterally. It has to be done cleverly—just a flip."

"A newspaper man, watching one of our Oak Park players flip the lateral, remarked 'that fellow does it so neatly he reminds me of a monkey flicking a flea off his body.'"

"From then on the play was known as the 'flea-flicker.' Saturday's play, Beynon to Prink to Froeschauer, was used by Illinois to score against Chicago in 1914 and 1924 and against Pennsylvania in 1925."

Northwestern Chief Special Agent Dead

Chicago, Oct. 16.—(AP)—William T. Dineen, 59, Chief Special Agent of the Chicago & Northwestern Railway since 1919, died last night in his home here. Death was caused by a heart attack.

Formerly Chief of Police at Waterloo, Ia., Dineen's first job with the Chicago & Northwestern was in Omaha, Neb. He had been Chief Special Agent for the Illinois Central at Champaign, Ill., Waterloo, Ia., and Louisville, Ky. He was born in Champaign.

Minnesota Farmer Kills Wife, Self

Harmony, Minn., Oct. 16.—(AP)—Slaying and suicide was the verdict today of officials who investigated the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. William Rossman.

Rossman, a farmer near here, shot his wife fatally Saturday night on the farm of Bert Stevens and then himself. She was suing him for divorce and had lived with the Stevens family two weeks. Neighbors said Rossman had threatened her previously.

Everyone enjoys a visit to the Walgreen stores at the Century of Progress. It is a nice place for luncheon.

British Club Sends Challenge For Cup

London, Oct. 17.—(AP)—The Royal Yacht Squadron today announced it had filed a formal challenge with the New York Yacht Club for the America's Cup, famous yachting trophy which the late Sir Thomas Lipton tried so long to win for England. The challenging yacht is Tom Sopwith's Endeavor, now being built at Gosport.

YOU SAVE BY HEATING MORE SPACE WITH THE SAME FUEL IN THIS BIGGER, LONGER-LASTING WARD'S

CIRCULATING HEATER

$24.95

$4 Down, $5 Monthly. Small Carrying Charge.

Here's why we can call this AMERICA'S GREAT HEATER:

1. IT HEATS MORE SPACE, on the same amount of fuel, than ordinary type of heaters, because it circulates the heat.
2. IT IS MORE BEAUTIFUL because it was designed by a famous artist. The finish is rich wood-grain walnut porcelain enamel with front panels slightly lighter. Door grills in decorative hand-wrought-iron effect.
3. IT WILL WEAR LONGER because the heating unit is extra big and sturdy. The heavy cast-iron firepot is oblong, for greatest heating surface with massive duplex grates for wood or coal. Every joint is airtight.
